Come visit with Dr. Amy Rushneck, Executive Director of CBK and the Western Academic Talent Search, to learn more about this national program.

Students in 3rd-9th grade qualify to participate in the Academic Talent Search by scoring in the 90% or higher in any subtest of their state-standardized exams, or use a recommendation from their school counselor for eligibility.

CBK is the Colorado Regional Talent Development Center, representing the Rocky Mountain region nationally. Academic Talent Search is the opportunity for students to take an above-level, high-ceiling test such as ACT, SAT, or EXPLORE at a much younger age with no risk in regard to permanent record ramifications unless families choose to release data.

Not only is WATS great practice, but it enhances opportunities for families in terms of both advocacy for school programming, as well as access to summer programs for very bright students across the country. Please come learn more and ask questions! The presentation is expected to run about one hour.
